

Every year, the Amgen Scholars Europe Programme provides 100 selected undergraduate students with the opportunity to engage in a hands-on research experience at many of Europe's premier educational institutions - posted on Trialect . Eligible students enrolled at colleges and universities throughout Europe may apply. Stipend, Housing and round-trip travel costs are covered, as well as round-trip travel expenses to the Amgen Scholars European Symposium in Cambridge. Currently, five institutions in Europe host the summer research programme. They are:

- Eidgenössische Technische Hochschule Zürich (Switzerland)
- Institut Pasteur (France)
- Karolinska Institutet (Sweden)
- Ludwig-Maximilians-Universität München (Germany)
- University of Cambridge (UK)

We appreciate if you can refer your fellows or students to this summer program. The details can be perused at: Amgen Scholars Europe
